Intro

Hi [Student]

Thank you for agreeing to this Usability Test today. Today we'll be testing my design for an alternative UX Academy group crits interface.

A quick overview of what to expect.

First, this isn't a test of you. You can't do anything wrong. Rather, this is to test what I've designed works. I'm looking for your true feedback. The more honest you are the better an experience I can design.

Second, for the usability test, I'll be presenting you with a series of tasks. We'll work through each, one-at-a-time, as we do I'd like for you to think out loud. Meaning, as your taking actions, reading the task, etc. you're speaking out loud what you're thinking, what action you're going to take, what you expect, and why.

Third, this test is optional and you can stop at anytime. If for any reason you want to stop the test, take a break, etc, let me know, and we'll stop.

Last, I'll be recording this usability test to listen back later. This helps me stay more present in our conversation. Is that alright with you?

Tasks

Task 1 - Is the group crits panel visible?

Please examine this page, what are all the actions you think you could take?

Task 2 - Set your preferences

You want to set your availability preferences, so that only group crits that are suited to you are available.

(a.) From this screen, how would you set your daily availability?

(b.) Can you set your preference for instructors?

Task 3 - Adding a Group Crit Session

From this screen, can you show me how you would register for a group crit session for April 2, @ 10am?

Task 4 - Canceling a Session

How would you go about canceling that session you registered for?

Task 5 - Viewing your Attendance History

Can you show me how you'd view your previous group crit sessions?
